

AHEAD OF WHAT'S POSSIBLE™

Dear GMSL Customer,

This letter is to notify you that, after March 31, 2023, certain GMSL devices that incorporate HDMI technology will require that you have a current HDMI license. The GMSL devices affected by this notice are listed on the attached Exhibit A.

You may already have an HDMI license. If that is the case, no further action is required. If you do not have an HDMI license, an overview and instructions on how to obtain one can be found here. After March 31, 2023, we will ship the noted GMSL devices ONLY after verification through HDMI's website that you have a current HDMI license.

To avoid delivery issues, we strongly recommend that you promptly check your license status with HDMI.

You can view your current order status under My Orders or contact Customer Operations via our Customer Support Portal for more information.

We thank you for your support and continued business.

Best regards,
Balagopal Mayampurath
Vice President, General Management
Analog Devices, Inc.
